SOME THOUGHTS ON GIVING...

In 2007, charitable giving in the U.S. broke the $300 billion mark for the first time ever, with a total of $306.39 billion contributed by individuals, foundations, and corporations.

Individuals continued to contribute the lion's share – more than $229 billion (74.8%). Add to this another $23 billion in bequests, and the total of individual giving in 2007 rose to a whopping $252 billion (82.3% of the total).

Foundations accounted for $38.5 billion (12.6%) and corporations rounded out the numbers with $15.6 billion (5.1%).

Independent and community foundations also continued to grow, in number as well as in giving. This group accounted for only 1% of giving in 1990, but has grown to almost 10% in recent years.*

In these tough economic times, the power of foundations and organizations like WIP seem likely to continue to grow, as people find more and more power in the concept of "collective" giving.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT—CAROL WILSON

Carol is an old timer on Hilton Head, having moved here in 1975. She grew up in Kentucky, one of six children raised on a farm that Carol wishes could be a part of everyone's childhood. Her mother and aunt were excellent seamstresses who taught her to sew, and this skill allowed her to design and make many of her own clothes in high school, college and beyond. She says that sewing for her little boys was a creative challenge that she enjoyed through their toddler years.

Not surprisingly, Carol graduated from Western Kentucky University (Bowling Green) with a BA in Clothing and Textile Merchandising, and a minor in Business.

Carol has a real estate license with the state of South Carolina. She worked as a rental and property manager on the island before moving over to the banking side of real estate. She is currently a Loan Officer with Coastal States Bank in Beaufort where she has originated residential mortgage loans and developed business relationships for the Bank. Carol has served on the Advisory Boards of Merrill Lynch and Robinson Grant, and is a member of both the Hilton Head and Beaufort Association of Realtors.

She has been involved with the Kiwanis Club of Hilton Head, the Sea Island Rotary Club and is currently Events Chair for Women in Philanthropy. Carol thoroughly enjoys living in the Lowcountry. Her favorite pastime is gardening, and she loves to cook. She walks and practices yoga to stay in shape. And she is a faithful member of the Sea Island Presbyterian Church in Beaufort, where she now lives.

Carol's two sons, who grew up on Hilton Head, now live in Charleston and Pasadena, CA, and continue to be the loves of her life.

MESSAGE FROM MARY

Dear WIP Members:

It's hard to believe that we're well into the New Year. I'm wishing for all of us good health, an improved economy and a more peaceful world.

Our Women in Philanthropy endowment fund, like all the investments at the Community Foundation, has taken a major hit in the past few months, down from its high of $443,918 in July to $354,309 in December. We remain optimistic that our funds are well managed and will rebound with an eventual upswing in the market. Our ability to make grants in the current year has not been effected. Distribution of funds is based on the prior twenty quarters, so the impact of one or two bad quarters out of twenty is minimal, but long lasting.

What can we as members do to bolster the WIP Fund during these difficult times? Two things come to mind. First, please try to make your membership contributions on schedule. The Community Foundation will continue to send timely reminders. Secondly, and perhaps more importantly, help us to build our membership by telling your friends and neighbors about our organization. The more members we have, the faster the endowment fund will grow. And more members will be available to support our grant making, education and fellowship functions. We'll be happy to work with you in planning a membership coffee or other recruitment event. Referral is key to our success!

I know that the Grants Committee is hard at work reviewing and interviewing candidate organizations for the 2009 WIP grants, dedicated to "Enabling the Disabled." The Education Committee is busy evaluating the future of the Community Services Showcase and developing a program to mentor students and young adults in philanthropy. The Events Committee is planning both membership and fellowship events for this spring. The Communications Committee is focusing on newsletter production and website improvements. If you would like to serve on one of these committees, please let us know. It's always good to have fresh ideas and extra hands.

My best to all of you.

Sincerely,
Mary
